The Amazing Colors of Butterfly Pea Juice

Jenny: Here 1 my drink.
 Barry: What is that thing? It's three different colors.
 Jenny: This is butterfly pea juice.
 Barry: Why is blue, purple, and yellow? It looks like you're drinking chemicals.
 Jenny: It's made with the butterfly pea. It is a blue flower from Southeast Asia(東南亞). That's why it's blue on the 2.
 Barry: And the yellow part on top?
 Jenny: It's lemon juice. Now, watch me turn the cup upside down!
 Barry: Wow! The colors are mixing together.
 Jenny: Yep, and now the drink will turn purple.
 Barry: This is 3 an interesting drink. I want to try it too!

Winter vacation is just around the corner. If you hear someone planning to go 18 apples in the coming winter vacation, maybe a song will come out of your mind.

Piko-Taro from Japan released his catchy song 19 "PPAP", which means Pen-Pineapple-Apple-Pen. Don't worry! You didn't read that wrong. The topic of the song is just that ridiculously funny, especially with Piko-Taro's dance moves.

The "PPAP" music video was put on the Internet in August 2016, and it took over the Internet in a very short time. The video has even received millions of views so far.

The lyrics are simple English sentences, like "I have a pen" and "I have an apple," so "PPAP" is such a 20 song that even kids can sing the song. No wonder people call "PPAP" an earworm.

Can Dogs See in Color?

Lots of people think that dogs see in black and white. But this is not true. Scientists(科學家) recently(最近) found that dogs surely do, just not quite the same colors as we do.

When people see a rainbow, they see purple, blue, blue-green, green, yellow, orange, and red. But when dogs see a rainbow, they see gray, blue, gray, yellow-brown, yellow, yellow-brown and yellow-brown. Can you imagine(想像)?

Dogs see red and green as a single(單獨的) color(yellow-brown) and also blue-green and purple as a single color(gray). This means that if you buy your dog a bright red toy, it will see it as an ugly yellowish(淡黃色的) brown.

Why? Well, a human eye has three different types of cells(細胞) that can detect(偵測) colors. Dogs' eyes, however(然而), have just two. This makes the range(範圍) of colors that they can pick up much more limited(有限的).

Adapted from Step to Target Reading #31

Texting when walking is dangerous (危險的), but it's a common scene (場景) in our everyday life. A video on Youtube shows a woman walking through a mall, and texting on her phone. She wasn't watching where she was going, so she tripped (絆倒) and fell into a hole. Luckily, she wasn't hurt (受傷). If she was on the street, she might be hit (碰撞) by a car or something else dangerous. This isn't a rare case in America. In 2015, more than 1,000 pedestrians (行人) visited hospitals for the same reason. Some even died by accidently (意外地) walking into traffic when texting.

Nobody will walk down the street with their eyes closed, and texting is nearly the same thing. Just one second of texting on your phone can bring a lot of trouble.

7. What does the word "rare" mean? (A) usual (B) uncommon (C) useful (D) helpful
8. According to the reading, what does the word "texting" refer to (指稱)?
(A) writing (B) speaking (C) listening (D) parking

(C) People usually closed their eyes when they walked. (D) The woman was in the hospital then.

Everyone needs to get away from the cold, dark days of winter sometimes. That's why many people decide (決定) to go to Hawaii. Hawaii is famous for its bright, blue ocean. You can go sailing and spend (花費) time doing something relaxing (放鬆的). But even sailing can be boring if you do it every day. Change your plans. Go to the Hawaiian Waters Adventure Park. It's an exciting water park on the island (島) of Oahu.

You can choose (選擇) any of exciting waterslides. How about the Flying Hawaiian or the Fast Fall? You'll feel excited. There's more. The park is a children's dream! There is a big pool with seven waterslides. It's safe, too. The friendly workers will help the kids learn how to swim. It's the best place for you and your family. Come and join us.

Pokémon Go

Most people know a popular app called Pokémon Go. It isn't only a favorite for kids, but also an important part of many adults' memories when they were children. What's more, many people have dreamed of having Pokémon in their real life, but it was not possible until 2016.

Within two days of its release, Pokémon Go became the biggest moneymaker at that time. It reached more than 10 million downloads within its first week and over 500 million worldwide after just two months. The app helped local businesses grow and made people go out more often. It may sound like a perfect game, but this game is not without any negative reviews.

Many people were too focused on the game and didn't pay attention to where they were or where they were going,
